

Day-1 Task

1. Differences between Browser JS and NodeJS

Ans :

Browser JS	NodeJS
1. JavaScript is a scripting language	1. NodeJS is a Javascript runtime environment
2. Javascript can only be run in the browsers	2. NodeJS code can be run outside the browser
3. Javascript is capable enough to add HTML and play with the DOM	3. Nodejs does not have capability to add HTML tags
4. It is basically used on client-side or front end development	4. It is mostly used on server-side or backend development
5. Can run in any browser engine	5. Can run only in V8 engine of chrome